Kay Comes Home to Gratitude, Warm Reminiscences of Friends

BY SAM PENDERGRAST
Editor of The Sun

Kay Russell came home to Corsicana Tuesday, the gratitude of his nation and the accolades of a thousand editorials and commemorative speeches ringing in his ears unaccustomed for six years to American voices raised in patriotic salute.

But it is unlikely that anything he had heard from faceless editorialists and strangers—even in high places—could have affected him so deeply or convinced him so finally that he was, indeed, home as the sometimes eloquent but often simple greetings and reminiscences of his friends last night.

His classmate and fellow honors graduate of the Class of 1952, Mary Nell Davis Butler, probably summed it up best when she paraphrased Lincoln's Gettysburg address and said "It's not what we say here tonight but the reason we are here that counts."

WHAT WAS SAID was most often in humorous, good-natured recollection of Kay as a child and a young man—as a mischievous seven-year-old boy with a tendency to scrap, a talented and determined musician who mastered the piano and the clarinet but proved to be a tough football player, a good student who overcame a momentary desire to "get along" and decided to become—and did—valedictorian of his class; a rather quiet teenager who could take time out to teach a bandgirl how to knot a man's tie and even send the girls' hearts fluttering in church; and a serious college student who could attend a "semi-formal affair" (tuxedo jacket without pants) with aplomb.

Master of Ceremonies par excellence and favorite local educational rapscallion R. A. (Andy) Armistead moved the program along with humor and tenderness following the standing ovation that welcomed Cmdr. Russell, his wife, Kay, and their children, Todd and Tracy, his brothers, Charles, and his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Russell, to the capacity crowd.

Armistead admitted the program had grown "like topsy" but refused to apologize, noting that "nothing has ever been done in Corsicana that had as much complete approval." (He did recall jokingly some uncertainty upon his appointment by Mayor Sue Youngblood as emcee, because "some of her appointments haven't held up lately.")

AFTER THANKING GRADY BARNES and his NJC Band and the Ivy League Garden Club for decorations and arrangements, Armistead introduced the Russell family to another standing ovation, then set the mood for the evening by citing the four things he had learned about Kay when Armistead was principal of CHS: that Kay couldn't be brainwashed by his Vietnamese captors "because I tried to brainwash him for three years"; that he could take care of himself "because any boy who plays football as well as the clarinet and the piano has to learn to take care of himself; that Kay could figure out things to do in prison camp "because he figured out how to come up with a 94.85 average as a student; and that Kay would find time for romance because Armistead had seen the beginnings of it during Kay's high school days.

Kay's elementary principal now retired, Miss Sarah Holman, presented the first "chapter" of Armistead's impromptu "Kay Russell Story" by recalling the fondness of all his teachers for Kay but noting Kay once got in dutch for fighting and said he couldn't quit "and let those big boys run over my friends."

Of Kay's early experiments with cookery, Miss Holman reported the time Kay put three cups of sugar in a cake recipe before he learned what "¾s" meant. (He went ahead and made a pudding instead—a point that was recalled later by a former Rice Institute roommate, who said he'd wondered why they always had pudding when it was Kay's night to cook.)

MISS HOLMAN also recalled Kay's availability for any good cause, as demonstrated by his volunteering to appear in such costumes as long-handled underwear dyed appropriately for patriotic tableaux.

Mrs. Butler said she was hard-pressed to come up with stories about mischievous pranks from Kay during high school, but she recounted in glowing detail a time when CHS Bandmaster H. C. (Hub) Hill was stopped from castigating the band for a sour note by Kay's admitting courageously "Mr. Hill, Sir, I must tell you: it wasn't I." ("It wasn't," fellow clarinetist Mrs. Butler finally admitted, "and we knew it.")

In the "chapter" about Sunday School days, Kay's former Sunday School teacher C. G. (Shorty) Winn admitted "We Baptists were disappointed Kay didn't go to Baylor" and said he had a suspicion that Kay wanted to join the church at about age seven because "You all do such good things down there" (during the Lord's Supper). "Kay always was a good eater," Winn explained.

"Kay was always a quiet boy," Winn continued; "He could make silent noise." And, when he was a long-legged 17, Winn said "Kay could sit in a chair and kick the shins of everyone within eight or ten feet."

CLOSING ON A SERIOUS NOTE, Winn attributed Kay's endurance of the horrors of prisoner of war camp to his Christian training and family. "We are all grateful to you," he told Russell, "for your example of faith in God and country."

Larry Walters, Kerens High School band director and former NJC music student, was featured saxophonist for the musical interlude by the NJC Stage Band of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and Walters' wife, Debbie, was soloist for the number "Beautiful as You Feel."

Angus Officials among Jailed

ANGUS — Six persons, including the Angus police commissioner and the street and fire co,missioner, were in County Jail Saturday under bonds of $25,000 each after being charged with possession of marijuana. The six were arrested during a narcotics raid led by Sheriff Jerry Shelton Friday night at Mustang Mobile Home Park in Angus.

The Sheriff's Department filed charges with Justice of the Peace W. H. Tipton against Johnny Williams, 22, the recently appointed Angus police commissioner and Kinneth P. Lester, 24, who is street and fire commissioner in the town. Both are residents of Mustang Mobile Home Park.

Others charged were John D. Scott, 22, of Nacogdoches, an NJC student; Ann E. George, 21, of Corsicana, an NJC student; Laura A. Hoch, 22, of Austin; and Dorothy J. Hutchison, 21, of Austin. The raid was made about 7 p.m. Friday.

Miss George and Williams were arrested at his mobile home, and Scott, Miss Hoch, Miss Hutchison and Lester, were arrested at Lester's mobile home, according to Sheriff's Deputy Tom Martin.

Sheriff Shelton was assisted in carrying out the narcotics investigation and arrests by Chief Deputy Harold Pitts, Deputies Tom Martin and Grady McCall, and Corsicana Police Sgt. Melvin Byrd and Narcotics Police Officer Victor Freeze. The amount of marijuana found during the course of a search was not specified.

Deputy Martin said two Dallas men were arrested in a separate incident Friday night by Ellis County Highway Patrolman David Mays, who stopped their car in Navarro County.

According to Martin, Patrolman Mays filed charges of possession of a narcotic drug (marijuana) with Judge Tipton against Tony Curtis Page, 20, driver, and his passenger, George Randal Helleson, 20, and filed charges of driving under the influence of drugs against Page. Bond was set at $15,000 for each man on the possession charge and bond was set at $15,000 for each man on the possession charge and bond was set at $1,000 for Page on the driving charge.

Both men were released Saturday after posting bonds, Jailer Maurice Hall said, and the payment of a $56.50 fine by Helleson on a drunk charge.

Sparks Start Blazes At Paymaster Mill

Corsicana firemen extinguished two new outbreaks of fire Sunday at the old Paymaster Cotton Oil Mills at West Seventh Ave. and South Seventh St. The fires were set off by sparks from workmen's cutting torches dropping into accumulations of old cottonseed meal and hulls, Main Station Fire Commander B.G. Clay reported.

Several fires have started at the old multi-story mill building which is being demolished. Sunday's fires occurred at 11:30 a.m. and at 2:40 p.m. causing no damage of consequence.

At 3:40 p.m. Sunday firemen extinguished a boxcar fire on a Southern Pacific freight train which stopped at the South 14th Street crossing so firemen would have access to the fire. Clay said brakes on the boxcar caused a friction fire which burned a small hole in the bottom of the car.

Halbert Line Bid To Be Let

The City Commission will meet in special session Tuesday to consider a contract for constructing a 14-inch water line from Lake Halbert to Highway 31 from among six bids received at yesterday's meeting.

The City received bids Tuesday on two alternates for the line, one calling for reinforced concrete and the other calling for ductile iron pipe, with both bids to include two underground vaults and a pump control system, and other necessary equipment.

The line is one of the projects under the bond improvement program.

City Engineer Tom Longley announced that the apparent low bidder on both alternates was Watkins Construction Co. of Corsicana. City Manager Jack Russell recommended the bids be taken under study by the city engineer and Corsicana's consulting engineers to verify they met specifications.

Bids received included: Watkins Construction—Alt. A, $117,424; Alt. B, $127,937.50; Ben Sira & Co., Dallas—Alt. A, $136,525.00; Alt. B, $146,521.90; Whittle Construction, Inc., Dallas—Alt. Commission Accepts Most Appointments Of Mayor, Changes NCAC Representative

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
City Editor

City Commission Tuesday gave unanimous and prompt approval to Mayor Sue Youngblood's appointments to the newly created Parks and Recreation Commission, the Public Library Board and Board of Equalization but rejected one appointee to the NCAC board substituting one of its own members in a meeting marked by congeniality unusual recently.

The Commission, in a tension-charged meeting May 1, had tabled the mayor's appointments re-submitted for official action after advising the Commissioners they had "made a mistake" in acting in a secret meeting April 17 in her absence on her original appointment recommendations. Tabled then were the NCAC and Board of Equalization appointments.

Mayor Youngblood announced as her appointments to the NCAC Board Delma Ware and Guy Rushin. The appointments offered by Comm. Fullwood substituted Comm. Geral Nichols' name for Rushin.

On the voice vote, it appeared all four Commissioners—Nichols, Stroube, Fullwood and Bob Scott voted "yes," and the mayor voted "no," announcing without hesitation, "The majority rules. Delma Ware and Geral Nichols will serve on the NCAC board." She then asked City Manager Jack Russell if these were two year appointments and when he reported the letter from NCAC didn't specify whether it was for one or more years, the mayor noted "we'll check into that."

Mayor Youngblood announced her appointments to the Board of Equalization of Julian Bell, Joe B. Fogg and J.C. Buchanan Jr. and motion to approve was made by Stroube, seconded by Fullwood and carried unanimously. The appointments are for one year.

McAfee Daniel was named to replace William B. Robinson, who didn't care to serve again, on the Library Board. Renamed to new terms were Mrs. Will Miller, Mrs. Lynn Sanders, Mrs. David Brown, Miss Irene Boozer, Richard Parker, Sidney Marks and Julius Jacobs.

Mrs. Herb Silverberg, Leland Cook, Mrs. C.L. Flynn, B.J. Deeds and Harry Hudson (chairman) were named to the Parks and Recreation Commission authorized by resolution at the May 1 meeting. This new board will be advisory in scope.

AN ORDINANCE EXPANDING the City Planning and Zoning Commission from seven to nine members and establishing a quorum of four was given preliminary approval on a split vote with Mayor Youngblood casting the only "No," vote. "I'll qualify that," she said, adding, "I feel like we have enough (seven) now, and I feel it is unusual to name a quroum of four."

There was no discussion by the Commissioners, nor did any citizen respond when the mayor announced a public hearing on the ordinance.

In the absence from town of City Attorney Glenn Stewart, City Mgr. Russell had drafted the amendment as directed by a majority at the May 1 meeting when Commissioners rejected Mrs. Youngblood's appointment of Albert Sanders and reappointed Don Marett to a new two-year term. At that time, the Commission also had approved her appointment of Mrs. Sharon Gallup, to succeed Mrs. Matthew Arnold, and Joe D. York to a new two-year term.

The amendment provides that the terms of five members appointed in 1973 shall expire May 5, 1975, and the terms of the four holdovers appointed prior to 1973 shall expire May 5, 1974.

Later in the course of the meeting, Comm. Stroube moved the Commission pass a resolution of appreciation and give a plaque of recognition to Mrs. Arnold. He recalled that she had been active in city planning since 1937 and might really be said to have prompted the creation of the first Planning and Zoning board as early as 1937. Mayor Youngblood observed it had been her practice to write a letter of thanks to anyone ending their service on a board or commission. The Commission endorsed the idea of the plaque.

Mrs. Lee Named Mother of Year

Recognition awards and election of the "Mother of the Year" highlighted the first annual banquet of the General Consumer Corporation, minority owned and operated neighborhood grocery store, held Friday night at the Community Center.

Charles Stine, field representatives from the East Texas Office of Minority Enterprise, was the featured guest speaker, discussing minority business in a minority neighborhood. Toastmaster Arthur Carroll presented Stine. Special guests were Mayor Sue Youngblood, who presented one of the banquet awards, and City Manager Jack Russell.

Voted "Mother of the Year" in an election conducted with a minority consumer ballot box at the neighborhood store, 1318 East Seventh Ave., was Mrs. Fannie Lee, 306 North Bunert St., a mother of three, life-long Corsicana resident, and active member of her church, Calvary Baptist Church. She was presented a plaque on which her name will be inscribed. Runners-up in the balloting were Mrs. Melissa Williams and Mrs. Vera McDonald.

The "Community Service Award" was presented to Freeman Robinson by Mrs. Jack Austin. Mrs. Austin presented to Miss Sharmal Lewis an award from Pedar-Pesar (father-son club) for her "dinstinguished ability" in directing the recent "Miss Black Corsicana" contest. A certificate of recognition presented to Mrs. Effie Madison for her completion of a course in modern supervisory techniques was accepted in her behalf in her absence by Mrs. Austin.

Mayor Youngblood presented Mrs. Austin with a certificate from Community Leaders of America for her "notable, outstanding and distinguished service in the community and state," according to a banquet reporter.

Door prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. Blocker, Mrs. W. Calhoun and Mrs. Jack Austin.

Malakoff Takes Storm Damage

Malakoff received the brunt of stormy weather which blew through the Golden Circle Friday night and early Saturday.

Mrs. J. E. Caldwell, The Daily Sun weather reporter for Malakoff, said high winds ripped through the town shortly after midnight Friday, damaging a number of structures in the downtown area. The plate glass window of Phillips Food Store was broken out, a storage shed at the Texaco Service Station was damaged, and a wall being constructed at the local pottery plant was also blown down, according to Mrs. Caldwell.

She said she also believes a tree was blown across some power lines, causing a blackout in parts of the town. An estimated "more than one inch" of rain fell in Malakoff in a short period.

Corsicana received large variations of rainfall in different areas of town, with .48 inch recorded in The Daily Sun gauge near Tiger Field, but only .08 reported by the Corsicana Weather Station.

Ennis received .28 inch, Richland recorded .15 inch, and Wortham reported .5 inch.

A survey of other area towns, including Blooming Grove, Hubbard, and Barry, revealed only a trace of rainfall.

Meanwhile, the Associated Press reported that new thunderstorms ranged over Texas Saturday following a night of deluges, hail and tornadoes which took four lives, three of them by drowning.

The first severe thunderstorm warnings of Saturday issued by the Weather Service were for the far south region around Brownsville and on the ipper coast near Galveston.

Down the coast from Galveston in the Freeport area, sea tornadoes—called waterspouts—were reported before noon.

SH 22 Work To Begin

The Texas Highway Department has announced that the re-surfacing of SH 22 in Corsicana will begin Thursday.

E.W. Hable and Sons, Inc., contractor for the project, has stated that work will begin at SH 31 and proceed northerly on 15th Street. The leveling up of SH 22 has been previously completed and the remaining asphaltic concrete will be placed with a paving machine. Work on 15th Street should be completed Friday, then SH 22 from 15th Street to the 2nd Avenue Intersection near 37th Street will begin Monday, May 21, weather permitting.

The Highway Department urged motorists to observe and follow directions of flagmen and warning signs at all times, thus minimizing danger from heavy construction equipment and trucks.

Thoughts on Mother's Day ...
Little puppies have a Mom
To keep them in their places ...
Little birds have a Mom
To bring them tasty bugs ...
Little bunnies have a Mom
To give them bunny hugs ...
Little bookworms have a Mom
To help them find a book ...
Little kittens have a Mom
To teach them a host of tricks ...
Little lion cubs have a Mom
To teach them how to roar ...
And even little fish have Moms
To keep them off a hook ...
Girls and boys ...
Ladies and Men ...
All have Moms
To cuddle them while small
To teach them right from wrong ...
To kiss bruises away while young ...
And never really realize they're grown ....
Yes, Moms are rare creatures ... brunettes, blondes, redheads ...
Small in frame or tall in stature ...
Some weigh too little and some too much
But they all have ONE thing in common ....
DO THEY EVER LOVE THEIR brood?
INDEED THEY DO.
So, hold on tight to Mom's hand, don't ever let go ...
You're not LIKELY to find a SUBSTITUTE!

MY MOTHER, Mamma High, had seven children. One time someone asked her which one she loved the most. She replied, "The one that needs me the MOST."

Which reminds me of a card I once received from Mike. It read, "Happy Birthday to the Best Mom in the whole world who love me for what I AM instead of what she WANTS me to be."

Son Pat called and said, "Surprise!" I'm coming home Mother's Day. Would you make some potato salad?"

Yep. It'll be in the refrigerator.

At this writing I haven't heard from Mike and Sue but am sure they will show.

And, by the way, HAPPY MOTHER'S Day to each of you and may God above keep you always in the shelter of HIS LOVE.

See you Thursday.

Dear Aunt Louise,

Thank heaven you are up and at 'em again! It is so nice that you can be active for Mother's Day and celebrate with all of the wonderful mothers in Corsicana.

I lost my own mother much too soon but appreciated her worth and wrote a poem about her which to my surprise was published and quoted. She saw us through our teens and through my sister's marriage but never lived to see her first grandchild. Here is the poem if you would like to read it:

I like to think of mother as an Alpine mountain guide,
A leader who is looking up, around whose waist is tied
A rope to help her children up a rocky mountain side.
The rope is made of twisted chords, of dreams and prayers and tears,
It stronger grows, because you see, it's lasted years and years.
Each child connects with one below and none must slip or fall
Because if one should stumble it might crush or injure all.
But mother stands above them there and brars a staff in hand
A staff called LOVE which holds her fast wherever she might stand.
Her steps will never falter though her hair be pearly gray
For the staff will bear the burden and the rope will not give way.
Up and up she leads them onward with a mother's battle cry,
"Climb on and up my children, mountain climbers never die."

Fondly,
Elaine Mayfield.

"Norma" Hammonds with the picture of the BEAUTIFUL CAT. Mrs. Hammonds is president of the local SPCA. I personally recommend that all animal lovers read the article in the current Reader's Digest about the over-population of cats and dogs in the U.S.A.

LAST WEEK was NATIONAL BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK! I'm always a day late and a dollar short so.....read on.

Son, Pat, was here for a two day visit and I did find time to make the potato salad he ordered. He, "Uncle" Raymond, Eula Mae Evans, my two cats, August and Taurus, and I enjoyed (I HOPE) lunch together. I baked a ham....oh well, as I've said before MEAT isn't the only item that has risen in price. I lucked IN on onions. I always use the chopped frozen kind in my potato salad as it saves a lot of time. When I asked for them at Safeway they looked at me as if I had marbles in my Head????! When I got home I dug to the bottom of my freezer and sure 'nuf I FOUND A PACKAGE. Out of curiousity I looked at the price tag and they were stamped TWENTY EIGHT CENTS.....already chopped and ready to serve, don't remember the date I bought them.

The David Trents', 1600 Columbia, cat had a litter of kittens the night Corsicana had the BIG TORNADO. They have some to give away FREE. Just think what clever names you could tag on them. Smile!

Oh, Sue and Mike didn't make it in for Mother's Day but they are supposed to come in today for a few days. Guess they'll bring their DOG, Pokey.

Mrs. C.R. "Mildred" Phillips visited her son, Charles Ray Phillips, his wife and two daughters in Houston on Mother's Day. Mildred's granddaughters, Vicki and Sandy, have two Siamese kittens, Sampson and Simon, who furnished entertainment for everyone.

Buddy Withrow and his two sons went to Cedar Creek fishing a couple weeks ago and after spending a few hours without even one strike they decided to fish for carp. Did they ever catch them? They did! Hauled them in weighing up to six pounds. I told Buddy he could have them as they were too boney and ugly for me. He said they didn't keep them but they were a lot of fun to catch.

Have you caught a fish, have seen a funny sign, discovered a new recipe, had company or been visiting, have some complaints and would like to get them off your chest? Well? Write 'Ole Auntie. I would love to hear from you.

Bye for now, see you Sunday.

Supper Said Successful

COOLIDGE — The Coolidge Lions Club Pancake Supper held last Friday was a "great success," according to Lions Club president Sam Todd.

The supper, a benefit to raise money to build new bleachers at the high school football stadium, netted $203.95 to be donated for the bleachers.

"The Lions want to thank all the people for purchasing tickets and those who supported the supper," Todd said. "The Lions would like to give speical recognition and their appreciation to Mrs. Home Copley for her help," he said.

The word thespian stems from Thespsis, reputed founder of the Greek drama.

Angus Incorporation Back in Court Again

ANGUS—Joe Edens of Route 3, Corsicana, has introduced a petition into the District Clerk's office that proposes to nullify the incorporation of this controversial little wet spot seven miles south of Corsicana.

The suit, filed against Angus mayor Aubrey Smith and the city officials, charges that the north and south ends of town are not properly connected by contingent land.

Edens could not be reached for comment this morning, but Mayor Smith told The Sun that his reading of the law in matters such as this is such that once incorporated a town cannot be unincorporated due to an error in its boundaries.

Furthermore, Smith said, talks with R.L. Thigpin, who surveyed the Angus townsite, indicate that the city is properly surveyed and that the populated areas at the north and south ends of town are joined by the land between Interstate 45 and the railraod tracks before widening to include the 200 people necessary for incorporation.

County Sets Tax Meetings, Denies Clerk Change-overs

By JIM BUSH
Golden Circle Reporter

The Navarro County Commissioners convened as the County Board of Equalization prior to a routine business meeting Monday, ans set July 2 at 10 a.m. for a hearing on tax assessment adjustments concerning utilities, and July 3 at 9 a.m. for consideration of any public tax assessment changes.

In the regular commissioners meeting, Felton Cameron, 21, presently of Stephenville, was accepted as assistant County Extension Agent on the recommendation of County Agent Gene Sears.

Cameron, a graduate of Tarleton State College, will take over Monday the position left vacant by Doug Presley, who is now serving as County Agent of Brazos County.

COMMISSIONERS APPROVED $239,815.68 in expenditures by Memorial Hospital, as listed by hospital administrator Gene Barron.

Acceptance of a plat of a subdivision planned in Rice was denied until developer Larry Wright and his attorney Lakin Kirke make revisions on the plat. Next Friday at 1 p.m. was set as the time to again review the plat, which is to clearly state the County will not be obligated to maintain roads in the addition.

Friday was also designated as the time to further consider the possibility of locating a land speed communications center in the County Jail, which would aid in sending and receiving law enforcement information such as criminal records.

SHERIFF JERRY SHELTON WAS TO MEET with Corsicana City Commissioners to determine if the City is willing to help finance and operate the facility. Action is to be taken on the matter by County Commissioners Friday, when consideration will be given to any replies from the City and to recommendations by the Sheriff.

A letter was read from Fred Keithly, in charge of the criminal justice operations for the North Texas Council on Governments, naming areas which already have the speed communications systems in operation.

The Commissioners denied for a second time a request from Tax Assessor Jerry Scott that he be allowed to hire replacements for two resigning office employes and advance the positions and salaries of two remaining employes, who would also be promoted to department heads.

It was agreed by the Commissioners Court that such salary changes should be considered at the time budgets are determined. Commissioners also contend it is unfair to raise the salaries of employes in one Courthouse office without giving consideration to those in other ofices.

SCOTT, WHO WAS PRESENT to make his requests after having them denied during the May 1 commissioners meeting, also complained to the Commissioners that personnel resigning from his office were not receiving benefits he feels they deserve for "years of service." He said he feels they deserve a bonus, and stated it is his opinion that the Commissioners Court is "cheating" the retiring employes.

Commissioners indicated they do not feel it is in keeping with prior policies of the Court to grant special bonuses of County money to retiring personnel.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Commissioners agreed to purchase a typing table, which Gene Sears said is needed in the County Extension office. Sears said the table will cost $80.82.

The Commissioners agreed to accept for county records the plat of the "Bains Acres" addition, bout two miles north of Kerens on FM 636.

Assistant District Attorney Pat Bachelor says anything of public record filed at the Courthouse must be kept, County Judge Rob Dunn informed the Commissioners. Bachelor was asked by Commissioners at their last meeting to determine if any old records could be destroyed to allow additional filing space.

All bills were accepted and approved by the Commissioners, and $10,000 was transferred to the salary fund on the recommendation of County Auditor Mrs. Mary Walker.

Judbe Dunn announced he is attending a public appropriation hearing in Washington on May 23 to speak in favor of the Trinity River Project. He said no county taxes will be used for the trip.

County Commissioner Arlon Simmons also announced he is attending the hearings to speak in favor of the project. He said his expenses are being paid by citizens in Kerens.

Fairfield Fugitive Returned to Jail

FAIRFIELD—Jimmy Chapman is back in the Freestone County Jail after spending most of the weekend in Parkland Hospital in Dallas after swallowing some razor blades Saturday.

Saturday's trip away from the jail was the second one in as many weeks for Chapman, 39, who broke out of jail May 3 along with "Red" Robinson. Chapman had been recaptured in south Texas early last week and returned to jail here prior to swallowing the razor blades.

Robinson is still at large.

Teague Library Looks for Grants

TEAGUE — The public library here is still looking for governmental grants to buy some new books, according to librarian Mrs. Mary Lou Eppes. Mrs. Eppes says that the aid sought last year after the library boosted its volume total over the 10,000 book mark was not granted, as President Nixon's cutting of library funds resulted in an empty coffer by the time Teague's library was eligible for the aid.

Currently Mrs. Eppes and others are cataloging the over 12,000 books received last year. The librarian reports that she will compile another report asking for federal aid as soon as time allows.

Newsman To Speak

ENNIS—WFAA-TV newsman Bob Gooding will be the featured speaker at the graduation exercises for St. John's High School, slated for Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the KJT Auditorium.

St. John's seniors are currently in Eureka Springs, Arkansas, on their senior trip, one of many senior week activities which began with baccalaureate services May 13.

Record 1973 UF Goal Set

A record high goal of $125,000 has been set for the 1973 United Fund fall campaign, President Pete Breithaupt announced today.

"This is $15,000 higher than last year's campaign, which was a record. Right now we are looking for a campaign chairman," Breithaupt said.

He said the goal had been established recently by the Budget Committee after the committee held four days of hearings to receive UF agency budget requests for 1974 and review them. The hearings were held over the past four Thursdays.

Breithaupt said as soon as he, Budget Chairman Arthur Patrick or Executive Director Ralph Dudley can notify all agencies the amount of allocations that have been approved to be received out of this year's drive, the agency allocations will be made public. Allocations are contingent on the goal being raised.

Long an association, the United Fund was incorporated last December to meet new federal guidelines for tax exempt status, and is now officially The Navarro County Fund, Inc., the president said. Under the change, Breithaupt said, "The executive committee now runs the United Fund between directors meetings, and we are not required to have but one meeting a year."

Serving as the 1973 Budget Committee are the executive committee members. The officers of the committee are Breithaupt as president; Rev. Robert Potts, first vice-president; Bill Harrison, vice-president; and Mackey Harral, treasurer. Agency board representatives include Jay Silverberg, Abe Stroud, Zane Stites, J. R. Stough, Dale Johnson, Joe Seale, Mrs. Martha Moody, Mrs. M. J. Davis and Rev. Paul Curry.

Executive Director Dudley, President Breithaupt and Budget Chairman Patrick will go to Dallas Tuesday for a day long meeting for UF leaders who will be discussing ideas and methods for more effective fund raising techniques for the fall campaign.

The local drive will kick off early in September.

Tax Assessor Recovering From Accident Injuries

Navarro County Tax Assessor and Collector Jerry Scott is recuperating at home after receiving a broken left arm in a car accident Tuesday at 9 p.m. in Pasadena, Texas.

W. M. Crawford of Frost, another county tax office employe, who was a passenger in Scott's car when it collided with another vehicle at an intersection, also received a broken left arm and cracked ribs. He is otherwise in good condition in a Pasadena hospital, according to Scott.

Contacted at his home by The Daily Sun, Scott couldn't identify the driver of the other car. The two cars met at an intersection, Scott said, and the other vehicle hit his car's right, front side.Both cars were reported badly damaged, and Scott said he will probably copnsider his totaled.

Freestone Earmarks Revenue Sharing

FAIRFIELD — Freestone County commissioners meeting Monday amended the county budget to include $104,000 in federal revenue sharing funds. The money is already earmarked for Courthouse and jail renovation, according to County Judge Rex Goolsby, who added that work on the jail will not begin until guidelines have been submited by the various state certifying organizations.

The commissioners also discussed the problem of regulating the construction of roads built by subdividers in the county. Action on this matter was delayed pending the passage in Austin of House Bill 167 which provides for county planning commissions to control the building of all roads within the county.

In other action the court organized itself as a tax equalization board and purchased a trailer for precinct one.

A former Corsicana couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knight, will leave Sunday for an all-expense paid, seven day vacation trip to Hawaii.

The Chevrolet-Buick dealer in Crockett, Knight won the "Reach for the Island" sales campaign and trip to Hawaii, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors has announced. His agency won the prize trip for having sold the most Chevrolet cars and trucks in his district during the campaign period of February through April.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Knight and grandson of Mrs. W. M. Forester and the late Mr. Forester of Corsicana, he is a third generation in the business.

Three Corsicana Scouts Attain Eagle Status

Three Scouts advanced to the rank of Eagle, the highest level of achievement in the Boy Scout program, Monday during the Navarro District's county-wide Court of Honor conducted at the NJC auditorium.

Eagle level in Scouting is attained by fewer than one in a hundred, Master of Ceremonies Dr. James Speier observed in recognizing the Eagles. Earning this advancement were Douglas Samuels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Samuels; Kelly Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Myers; and Anthony Kormos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kormos. The Eagle award ceremony was conducted by Rutherford Stough with the Eagle Scout Charge administered by the Rev. David Hale of Northside Baptist Church, who reminded the Scouts of their position of honor and responsibility—responsibility to fellowman, country and God.

An Eagle Scout bronze palm, for longevity in the position of Eagle Scout, was presented to Brad Myers, brother of Kelly Myers.

Advanced to the positions of Life Scout during the Court of Honor were Jimmy Scoggins, Royce Pollard, Pete Roberts, Matt Anderson, John Ivey and Dwane Burnett. Advanced to Star Scout were Frank Mitchell, Dale Scoggins and Randolph Washington. Advanced to First Class Scout were Donald Palmer, Steve Bahrt, Mike Chilbert, Bobby Bergey, Mark Chilbert and Wayne Bonner. Advanced to Second Class were Sterling Hyden, John Pitts and Greg Follis. Advanced to Tenderfoot were Kenney Bailey, Mark Bailey, Kenneth Mahoney, David Smith, Chris Lockhart, Larry Stutts, Mark Rushin, David Williams, Foster Brightman and William Hyden.

Merit badges and skill awards were awarded also to most of those advancing in rank and also to Rusty Scoggins, Roger Roberts, Kelly Myers, Larry Carter, Anthony Borsellino, Billy Cobb, Darrell Kolosta, Joey Kormos, John Kormos, James Martinez, Roger Mills, David Ragsdale, Steve Ragsdale and Richard Schriefer.

Troops participating in the Court were 249 sponsored by First Baptist Church, 246 sponsored by Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, 243 sponsored by First Methodist Church and 258 sponsored by the Corsicana Kiwanis Club.

Coach Bill Froman Tells Rotary Of Plans for CHS Athletics

"If you have a sound program (athletic) winning will take care of itself," Bill Froman, new Corsicana High School football coach, told members of the Rotary Club and their guest Wednesday.

Froman, former coach at Burkburnett High School for eight years, has a record of 117 wins, 56 losses, and two ties.

Froman explained that he has plans for overhauling the athletic program, beginning with the junior high school program.

"I am not saying that the program is not adequate or sound, but is is not what I would like it to be," he added.

He pointed out that two of the most important things in getting the program to work is getting the students to know him and for him to get to know the students.

"We know that we have some problems ahead of us," he said.

He pointed out that he was unfamiliar with spring practice.

"In a 3AAA school you don't have spring practice. You go with what you've got and do the best you can" he said.

He explained that he was trying to install a new system which includes reforming the program beginning with exercise and equipment.

He pointed out that a few improvements were being made at Tiger Field.

He also explained that for a sound program, students as well as coaches have to be coached.

"This summer we are going to have a few coaches coming down to look the program over. Right now I can't tell you what position they will be taking," he said.

Wortham Coach, Players Honored

Wortham High School was honored May 12 in the Texas House of Representatives when two congratulatory motions were introduced and passed by State Representative Fred Head.

The first honored the Wortham High School One-Act Players, who under the direction of Mrs. Wayne (Aggie) Poe, recently took second place in Class B State One-Act Play Competition. The congratulatory motion cites Mrs. Poe and the Players for distinguishing themselves out of the over 140 other Class B schools who were involved since the first rounds of competition began. The motion also praises the players for earning three out of a total eleven individual honors chosen from all participants in the competition.

The second congratulatory motion honored Coach Carl Peters and the Wortham Bulldogs for their "impressive showing during the recent State Track meet by placing third in Class B statewide competition." The Bulldogs captured first place victories in the 440 yard dash and the 440 yard relay and a third place victory in the 220 yeard dash. Coach Peters was singled out for his skillfull direction and for the fine track season the Bulldogs had under his watchful eye.

While in Austin, Mrs. Poe, The Players, and Mr. Wayne Poe, Wortham School Superintendent visited Representative Head at the State Capital and presented him with a lollypop in recognition of his perfect attendance and voting record maintained since his election to serve in 1966.

POLICE

Two women were treated and released at Memorial Hospital Monday morning following a two-vehicle accident at 10:30 a.m. 2.2 miles north of Corsicana on IH 45.

Texas Highway Patrolman Vernon Crook reported that the vehicle driven by E. D. Thornton, 63, of Dallas, and the car driven by Arline Healey, 29, of Ennis, were both southbound on the highway when the accident occurred. There were no serious injuries but Mrs. Fern Thornton, a passenger in her husband's car, and Mrs. Healey were taken to the hospital for treatment.

Patrolman Albert Fisher assisted in the investigation.

Four Escape Serious Injury

Two area accidents sent four people to Memorial Hospital with injuries, none serious, including three members of a Dallas minister's family.

A 1967 Pontiac station wagon occupied by five members of the family of the Rev. Tommy Earl Brown of Dallas and driven by his wife, Mae Evelyn, was totally demolished when a tire blew out and it overturned in the median seven miles north of Corsicana on IH 45 Monday at 7:50 p.m., investigating Highway Patrolman Clayton Smith reported.

The family was en route to a church meeting in Mexia.

Mrs. Brown, driving the car, was treated for deep facial lacerations. Their 11-month-old daughter, Christi Fay, who was thrown from the overturning car, was treated for lacerations to the scalp and wrist; and the Browns' 11-year-old son, Mark David, was treated for a superficial arm laceration. All were dismissed after treatment in emergency.

The Rev. Brown and another son, Tommy Brown, Jr., 13, were uninjured in the mishap, Patrolman Smith reported.

Ezra A. White, 79, Powell, was treated in emergency for lacerations to the face and hands following an accident involving his pickup truck and a farm tractor.

Patrolman Smith said the accident occurred at 8:35 p.m. Monday five miles east of Corsicana on Roane Farm Road 1129, when it overtook a farm tractor towing a cotton planter and operated by Joe Fred Flanagan, 29, Corsicana. Patrolman Smith said White came up behind the farm tractor and apparently didn't see it until he was almost overtaking it. He applied his brakes and swerved toward the bar ditch, with his 1972 Chevrolet pickup's left fender glazing the cotton planter.

Smith said the pickup traveled a short distance down the bar ditch before running off into a deep ditch with White sustaining his injuries at this point when thrown against his steering wheel.

Flanagan was uninjured in the mishap, he reported.

Highway Patrolman Lloyd Allison assisted in both accident investigations.

Conflicts Are Created as Jews of Different Cultures Try To Live Together in Modern Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — Kochavi Shemesh is a Jew who calls himself a Black Panther.

He has been in jail eight times for demonstrating against what he and many others claim is discrimination against "Oriental" Jews in Israel.

"Oh, there are never cases of restaurants or hotels refusing to serve Orientals. It is not that kind of discrimination" says Shemesh.

Few Israelis pay any attention to the color of another's skin, schools are not segregated, and Premier Golda Meir argues that charges of discrimination are "nonsense."

But hot-headed young Panthers and conservative older citizens from countries such as Iraq, Yemen or Morocco contend that Jews of Western-descent run the country, monopolize the good jobs and dominate the armed forces. Easterners or Orientals, live in overcrowded conditions, get less education end do the poorly paid work.

New immigrants from the Soviet Union, settling in Israel at the rate of 3,000 a month, are assigned apartments as soon as they step off the plane, while thousands of poor families who came 20 years ago are still confined to slum housing. Most of those poor are Orientals.

"If this is not discrimination from the very top, then I do not know what discrimination is," says Shalom Cohen, a member of parliament.

Most Israelis, however, see the problem as deprivation rather than deliberate discrimination. But they are disturbed that after a quarter of a century — Israel celebrated its 25th anniversary May 7 — the problem remains unsolved.

Older Israelis of Western origin worry that the rush toward materialism and a changing life style are eroding the original Zionist vision of building — through dedicated work — an ideal Socialist state.

Eastern Jews, who never shared the Zionist vision, are more concerned with getting their share of status and prosperity.

In Israel, Jews of Western descent are called "Askenazi," while Eastern, or Oriental Jews are called "Sephardim."

Oriental Jews began pouring into the country from North Africa and the Middle East after 1948, some of them thinking the immigrant airplanes were the eagle wings of the Bible taking them to the Promised Land. Many were uneducated and unskilled—some had to be taught how to sit on a chair — and fitting into the new state proved more difficult than anyone imagined.

Modern Israel was conceived and built by Western Jews, but the Sephardis now make up about 65 per cent of the population.

The majority, with many mouths to feed have become ineligible for good jobs in an advanced society, because they were unable to pull themselves up by their bootstraps.

Ovadia Sadik, for example, was a railway worker in Baghdad before moving to Israel 23 years ago. Since then Sadik — that isn't his real name, which he prefers not to disclose — has been workings as a garbageman, living in a hut he built himself in Tel Aviv's Hatikva — hope — slum district.

The Sadiks have applied many times for better housing or for neighborhood improvements, but "the Ashkenazis get everything and the government ignores us," he maintains.

The Sadiks are an extreme case. Still an estimated 60,000 Israeli families live in poverty, and almost all are Orientals. Orientals earn, per capita, about 60 per cent of the national average $1,800 a year. In 1970 the per capita income in the United States was about $4,200 a year.

When they come up against high school examinations many "realize they are not up to scratch — there is a terrific psychological shock" and they quit, some drifting into crime or prostitution."

Skylab Astronauts To Monitor Earth's Resources

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts will play their first role as monitors of earth's natural resources when they board the Skylab space station.

They will use a $37 million array of six photosensors to evaluate actual and potential resources over a wide area of the globe.

A dozen countries have asked the astronauts to employ the sensors to scan farmlands, mountain ranges, river basins and watersheds in search of everything from minerals to crop disease.

The Skylab is scheduled to be launched May 14, with the three-man crew joining it the following day.

"The Skylab earth resources experiments offer an almost unlimited potential for near term benefits affecting man here on earth," reported astronaut Paul J. Weitz. He is the sensor expert on the Skylab 1 crew.

"During the five months the station will be manned by three crews, it will fly over 75 per cent of the earth's surface, including the entire United States except Alaska," Weitz said. "With this excellent view, data can be obtained applicable to mankind's most pressing problems, such as weather, food production, pollution, flooding, erosion and the depletion of natural resources."

Weitz emphasized the sensors are experimental, designed to determine which instruments can best be used by man in space and which can be operated on unmanned satellites.

"But," he said, "they could lead to a science in such things as mapping snow cover and assessing water runoff potentials; mapping air and water pollution and their sources; assessing diseased and healthy crops; timber volume estimate; locating arable land; determining sea status and fishing grounds, and locating hidden oil and mineral reserves."

More than 90 principal investigators from the United States and 20 from other nations are involved in Skylab's earth resources study, which involves the use of multispectral, optical, infrared and photographic sensors.

A total of 132 targets have been selected for study by Skylab.

New Lebanese-Guerrilla Cease-fire Breaks down

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Explosions rocked banks and a restaurant in four different areas of Beirut today, cannon and artillery fire rumbled intermittently and the Lebanese army warned guerrillas it will retaliate "intensively and violently" to cease-fire violations.

An official communique said guerrilla rockets and mortars were hitting army positions and residential areas in acts of "pure sabotage."

The army said 13 soldiers had been killed, 65 wounded and six were missing since hostilities erupted Monday night.

Guerrilla casualties were not immediately known.

The government continued censorship on news dispatches.

The new explosions, which came in an area previously unaffected by the week-long fighting, destroyed the Development Bank on Hamra Street, Beirut's equivalent of Fifth Avenue, the G. Trad Bank on the Damascus Highway and the Lebanese Commerce Bank in the Shiyah suburb.

The fourth explosion blew up a restaurant between the plush St. George and Phoenica hotels next to the British Bank of the Middle East.

The army said its positions at the radar station, Beirut airport, the army combat school and the army officers' housing compound were being fired on by mortars and rockets.

Outside Beirut, the army said, in the Bekaa Valley, "army groups are still under intensive shelling by armed men."

"As for the south," the announcement said, "following the rocket and heavy mortar attack on the army Tyre garrison and the ambush of a military convoy on the Tyre-Sidon highway, eight soldiers were killed."

A senior army official said a joint cease-fire commission was making "desperate efforts" to stop the shelling.

Guerrilla attacks today also were reported against a number of army installations and villages in southeast Lebanon.
